126 - HUDSON GREY

The eastern shores of Canada's world renowned Hudson's Bay are home to some of the oldest rock formations in the world. To honour these 4.2 billion year old rocks we created a balanced mix of white and obsidian chips with an almost equal sample of medium grey acrylic chips. A natural looking texture inspired by one of Mother Nature's early wonders.

616 - MOUNTAIN GRANITE

Rocky Mountain Granite is the newest Canadian inspired Flexstone texture offering. A combination of midnight black acrylic chips, mixed with faded grays and a sprinkle of ice-cap white over our grey aromatic urethane colour coat results in a deck covering reminiscent of a rocky outcropping somewhere deep in the Canadian Rocky Mountains.

502 - BADLANDS TAN

Areas around the Alberta Badlands inspired this waterproof deck covering. Badlands Tan is a chip combination that brings to mind the rock formations around Drumheller, Alberta. A combination of white, tan, and brown flecks, highlighted with obsidian black chips provides a warm looking, and inviting surface for any deck

960 - BOBCAT BEIGE

The North American Bobcat is the inspiration for this waterproof decking texture. This blend is a tasteful composition of coffee brown, sepia, snow white, and black. Bobcats can be found in Southern British Columbia, Alberta and Manitoba. These graceful hunters epitomize the natural beauty of the Canadian wild and have helped create this gorgeous finish for your outdoor oasis.
